

The
COZY PLOTTING WORKBOOK

Structure without rigidity

Creativity without chaos

Progress without overwhelm

Story
VIBE

Characters
& HEART

Breadcrumbs
& ANCHORS

Scenes
& SOUL

Your story. Your way.

BY TRACIE JOY

★ A COZY, INTUITIVE SPACE FOR YOUR STORY ★

Welcome, Writer

We're just walking through the door.

The story will take it from there.

This workbook wasn't designed to trap your story inside a rigid structure. It was designed to help you discover what is already there.

Think of these pages as lanterns, not railroad tracks. Use what helps, ignore what doesn't. Follow the breadcrumbs. Trust the anchors. When you reach the swamp, keep walking.

And if you get stuck, we'll find the next heartbeat together. Your story already knows where it's going. We're just helping it find the path.

Inside This Workbook

 Breadcrumb Constellation

 Five Anchors

 Scene Seeds

 Character Compass

 Why This Story Matters

 The Promise to Yourself

Story Vibe Snapshot

What does this story feel like from the inside?

Don't overthink it. Just let the feelings land on the page.

This isn't a synopsis. It's a vibe check.

The Feeling

In three words or less, my story feels like:

The emotional core of this story is:

The reading experience I want to give someone is:

Mood & Atmosphere

Season or time of day that matches the story's energy:

Story Vibe Snapshot

Mood & Atmosphere

Three sensory details that live in this world:

Sound:

Smell:

Texture:

The color palette of this story:

Comparisons & Inspirations

This story sits beside:

Story Vibe Snapshot

Comparisons & Inspirations

The one song that would play over the opening scene:

Heart of the Story

The one thing I want a reader to feel when they close this book:

The question my story is quietly asking:

Hidden Things

Character Compass

- What secret do they keep?
- What are they afraid to admit?
- What lie do they tell themselves?

Breadcrumb Constellation

Connecting the Breadcrumbs

- Which moments seem connected?
- What happens between them?
- Are there any missing pieces?

Breadcrumb Constellation

The Constellation

Every story begins with scattered stars. Write your most important moments anywhere on this page. Don't worry about order, structure, or perfection. These are the scenes, discoveries, conversations, and turning points that keep pulling you back to the story. As you place them on the page, notice which stars seem connected. Draw lines if you want. Add new stars if they appear. Leave space for mysteries that haven't revealed themselves yet. You are not building an outline. You are discovering a constellation.

Five Anchors

Opening Anchor

- Where does the story begin?

- Why here

Five Anchors

Opening Anchor

- Where does the story begin?

- Why here

Five Anchors

Final Shift

- What must they face?

Scene Seeds

Emotional Seeds

- What feelings deserve a scene?

Scene Seeds

Tiny Seeds

- What small moments would delight readers?

Why This Story Matters

Reconnect with the reason you're writing.

The Spark

- Why this story?

- Why now?

Why This Story Matters

The Promise

- What promise are you making to the reader?

